Finding a Copy of Works Cited in Research Databases

What does the Find It button do?
This button, found in research databases, offers you options for getting the article.

Sometimes when you click on Find it! you will see a “Full text link” like this:

This link will send you to the EJC (Electronic Journal Center) where you can find the full-text of the article online.

Sometimes you will see a display that shows print holdings like this:

This means that the University Library owns issues of the journal. Verify that we have the issue you need. Journals are shelved alphabetically on the 5th and 6th floors of University Library.

Sometimes the article is not available in full-text AND the library does not own the journal. In this case, you can use the Library's Interlibrary Loan service to get the article Go to www.library.kent.edu/ill
If you aren't sure if the journal is available, don't hesitate to ask a librarian for help.
